

PARISH CUP SUCCESS.

In the Parish Cup final, Stainland won against Copley at Thrum Hall, by the wide margin of seven wickets. The game will be long remembered for its short duration, 3½ hours being sufficient to complete the match. Copley, who have figured in the final for two years in succession, were confident that they would atone for their last year's heavy defeat, but once again they failed badly.

In the second over of the match they lost their most forcing batsman, B. D. Turner with only a single on the board. The effect of this early loss had a demoralising effect on the remaining batsmen, Copley being all out for the small total of 72 runs.

J. Barron and Shaw played havoc, the former being in brilliant form, and out of a total of six victims, he clean bowled four, whilst Shaw gave good support at the other end; he had four for 25 and Barron had six for the same total.

EARLY VICTIMS.

When it came Stainland's turn to bat the Copley bowlers were expected to play havoc. This was made to appear possible when Ellis fell to Turner, and Holroyd soon followed. For some unaccountable reason, Turner was taken off and Thorpe and Taylor settled down to knock off the runs. Both batted extremely well, but with 12 runs short of victory Taylor left. Thorpe and J. Barron soon finished off the game.

The Mayor, Ald. W. Crabtree, presented the cup to Holroyd, the Stainland captain.
