

LIGHTCLIFFE CRICKET GROUND

The dominating feature of the ground is its vivid red and white paintwork; the painstaking task of maintaining the pavilion in such condition is evidence of Club members' dedication. The pavilion gives off the impression of a 'cricketing heyday'. Locals. Meanwhile, can bask in the summer sunshine with a drink in their hands, while watching a good game.

Lightcliffe village looks typically English, with cottages surrounding the playing field. Also from the ground can be seen the old church tower, now framed by the trees which surround the ground.

Daniel Stewart