The building shown in the photograph is the original school building... It was built in 1882 and is a fine example of Victorian architecture. The building is made of brick and has a gabled roof. It is now used as a museum and is open to the public.

In the early days of the school, the children were taught... The school was founded in 1882 and has since grown into a large secondary school. The original building is still standing and is a testament to the school's long history.

LEAGUE OF THEIR OWN

Meet the six well respected members of the Bradford Central League that they have in fact, formed strong and long lasting links for the club in the north and south of the country.

CENTENARY YEAR!

The Sheffield Cricket Club was formed in 1880 and during its 100th birthday year it has been able to look back on a long and successful history. The Club's 100th birthday is being celebrated in 2000.

OUT WITH THE OLD...

Our former 1st XI pavilion, as the building is demolished after 50 years of service.
