

24 MAY 1901

It was called off on Thursday, because of the rain

It was fine on Friday so they can play again

The match is still played at bath, promptly in the morning

I won't know what's going on, but a big match is dawning

I'm so confused when watching the cricket match

I don't know what's going on, and then everyone yells catch.

There are moments of silence, everyone watching in ore

Then everyone's shouting, wanting our team to score.

I don't know what innings or overs are But apparently a four is when you hit it quite far

Woods is bowling and Barton is caught out

Then everyone around me begins to shout

I can smell the food from the lunch stalls

It's the end of the game everyone calls
