

LATER YEARS NEW BEGINNING

In 1988 the Club reformed, becoming the Huddersfield & Denby Cricket Club.
In the same year, the Club which took over, it was announced to be the only club in the Huddersfield and Denby Cricket Club with a club in being a photographic club of the club with the Green, for the club to be the first club to be called "Huddersfield".

DENBY THE BRICKS & REFRIGERATORS

1. Refrigerator In 1970 the young Richard Linnard bought a plot for an ice factory at Denby. He built the factory in 1971. The ice was used to transport the fish to the shops in the town. The factory was closed in 1980. But some frozen fish can be seen in the shops today.

2. Refrigerator Being involved in being the first of a product was much more difficult than the price of the product. The 7 pence was expected to be the price of the product. The price was not the only issue. The price also affected the fish. The price was set by the Town of London and had to be paid out of it. A remedy that was made in the 1980s might have helped to solve this problem. The Community Charge was introduced in the 1980s. The Community Charge was introduced in the 1980s. 3. Religion Prior to 1827 when a chapel of ease was built in Denby, villagers needing to attend church had to walk three miles and half mile to Penistone Church. It was only after Denby village had their own church that people could go to church. The church was built in 1827. The church was built in 1827. The church was built in 1827.

4. Shipping With the loss of Denby's stone, Peter Thomas the Butcher, closing in 2004, it is hard to believe that Denby once had a general store, a post office and even a bank. The general store opened in 1828 and apparently sold everything from sheep and piglets to fish and vegetables. It closed in 1880. The bank followed suit in 1882 and it was a private banking.

HOME SWEET HOME

Denby Rectory looks across on one of the main roads towards the west. The house was built in 1780 and is one of the best examples of a Georgian house in the area. It was built by the Rev. John Denby, who was the Rector of Denby at the time. The house was built on the site of an earlier house which was destroyed by fire in 1700. The house was built on the site of an earlier house which was destroyed by fire in 1700.

When other roads leading towards the Rectory were built, the ground was a waste of land. The Rectory was built on the site of an earlier house which was destroyed by fire in 1700. The house was built on the site of an earlier house which was destroyed by fire in 1700.
