

On 14 March, PR assistants Hayley Street (left) and Megan Wainwright (right) organised a promotional event for the Cricket Heritage Project in town-centre Halifax

There were 100 women who had been in the 1920s when the Association was set up. At the time, the women were not allowed to play cricket. They were only allowed to watch. One of the earliest women's teams to emerge in the Halifax area was at Greeland in the 1920s, below.

This kind of tight knit between women has engendered itself in the national psyche. And, of course, in the most, it is women - cricketers, wives and girlfriends, mothers and daughters that thrive and prosper - who have been responsible.

Women's Cricket Association

STOP THE WOMEN IN CALDER CHARTADIS TO

Women's cricket has been played in Sweet, Walsden. The first recorded match was in 1880. The first recorded match was in 1880. The first recorded match was in 1880.

Women's Cricket Association

Compiled by Peter Davies & The Light

Support by the Heritage Lottery Fund

180 Not Out
A history of cricket in Halifax, Westwood, Dewsbury and District.
Volume 1: Calderdale
Compiled by Peter Davies & The Light

OUT IN
The Illingworth

