

Roy Plowman

1983 – Paddock's League Representative

Six intrepid Paddock Cricket, Bowling and Athletic Club members were under marching orders on Sunday. They tackled the Three Masts Walk from Pole Moor to Emley Moor via Holme Moss and, although they were exhausted at the end of their nine-and-half-hour trek, they had also boosted club funds by over £400. "We earned every penny of it," said expedition leader and cricket league representative Roy Plowman. "We all finished looking like Compo and although the official distance was 28½ miles we must have covered 34. I have never known anything like it and we must have gone through the pain barrier twice." Junior cricketers Neil Hopkinson and Chris Wood were the first to complete the hike and they were followed in by bowling section official Ken Fretwell and Jan Booth, wife of club secretary Peter. Like a true leader, Plowman and committee member Steve Fretwell came in 45 minutes later just to ensure there were no stragglers!
