

GOOD FOLK

John and Joan Parkinson and Len Gravenor on club people

Harry and Madeleine Andrew are key people at the club. Harry played here and does the ground with three other club members. He's also built a roller shed for the club. They both enjoy watching now as well.

Some of the benches round the ground bear significant dedications. Ian Spencer died not so long ago. He was a player, club chairman, committee man and did a lot of work.

Alan Kellett was a rugby player and coached at Halifax. He played cricket, was an ex-president of the club, and was a very good worker for Hedge Top. The families supplied the benches.

Dave Torney, Bruce Deadman and Brian Varley are tireless workers for the club.
