

GOOD FOLK

Peter Hardy on club people

Keith Smith and Ken Haley – groundsman for many years - made a significant contribution to this club. And Denis Johnson was a fine club president.

On the playing front, Paul Blakeley became one of the finest all-rounders in the Central Yorkshire League.

Jean is now a widow. Her husband, Alan, was club treasurer and secretary. He was a wonderful man, a real stalwart and made the club tick. Their son, Richard, is now in his 40s and still playing.

Today Chris and Julie Purslow do great work in terms of fundraising.
