

DOING THE RIGHT THING

Mick Baldwin on the club and the village

We've got a big fence between the playing area and the main road. Health and Safety recommended it. It was the right and the responsible thing to do. It was expensive but we had to do it.

There are shops and houses on the main road – and some club members live nearby. There are new houses nearby too.

The cricket club is central to the village. We've got 700 members in total and a fine clubhouse with a very nice function room. I love the game and the club is a focal point in the village.
