

SEPTEMBER 10th, 1938.

A question much debated in Huddersfield cricket circles has been settled by Jack Crum (inset) of Armitage Bridge throwing a cricket ball over Lockwood Viaduct, which is 129 feet high and 30 feet wide at the top. Most people thought it could not be done, and the men seen in the picture attempting the feat would have agreed.

ARMITAGE BRIDGE C.C. 1938

Rear: D. Lockwood, F. Hellawell, G. Boothroyd, E. Mathus, J. Crum. Front: L. Wood, R. Chappell, J. Thornton, E. Thorpe (captain), J. Beaumont, H. Berry