

'MR FIX-IT'!

John Bleazard on club people

Harry Waterhouse is a vice-president but he's not well at the moment. He was a renowned batsman in his day and would always help with the ground – just bits and bobs.

He'd potter around with the machinery and was always good at encouraging other volunteers. He's always lived for cricket.

John Amos was nicknamed 'Mr Fix It'. He kept all our machines going and put a lot of time and energy into the club. A true Yorkshireman too!
