

MIRFIELD PARISH CC

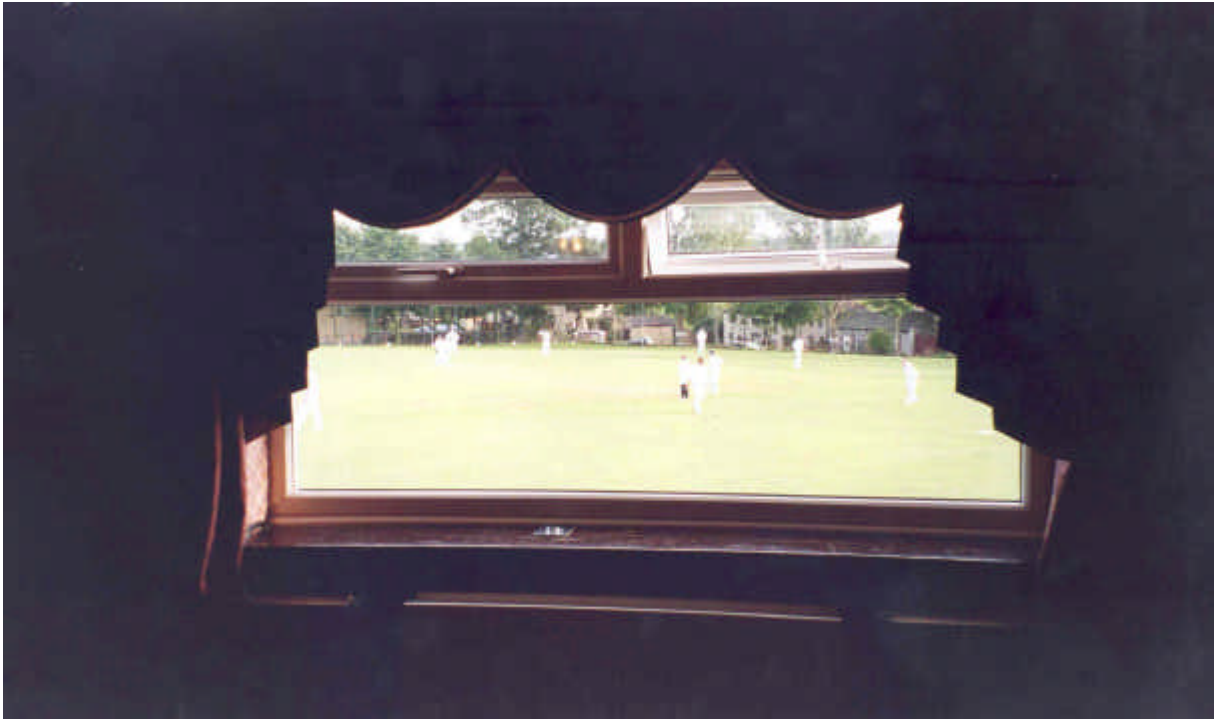

Wellhouse Lane Today

The clubhouse

The Clubhouse is located at the 'top' end of the ground, adjacent to the car park and main entrance.

Above: From inside there is also an excellent view of the action.

Below: The main entrance to the Clubhouse.

Around the Ground

Wellhouse Lane is a particularly 'enclosed' ground. When you sit on the edge of the boundary you feel intimately involved in the action.

John Balmforth, far left, Brian Tattersfield, second right, and groundsman Gilbert Porter, near right, relax during a home match

Above: Mirfield Parish Church is just visible through the netting and beyond the houses.

Below: The Club is proud of its heritage.

The Scorebox is a multi-functional building that comprises a garage.

It is located on the opposite side of the ground to the main entrance. But very close to a back entrance to the venue.

As befits a local league cricket ground, there is a lot of 'white' round and about – and some rather ornate artwork.

