

Clubbing together—Ida Hardy with sons Michael (left) and former Examiner soccer writer Martin outside the Clayton West clubhouse to which they have such close ties. Ida's late husband George, a long-time player with the Central League club, left money when he died to refurbish the tea room and dressing rooms, work that was carried out before the start of the season